

I. Abstract

This Project is based on Online Aptitude Exam which is held at some specific location. This portal can be used by any company for recruitment. This is a time based exam. This is helpful because there will be no manual exam paper setting and distribution would be required. Also due to this portal every student will be having randomly selected questions so, no two people sitting together will be able to copy from other and will not be able to guide other students about the question which were asked in exam. It also helps in removal of Proctoring.
